

Pres. Langsdorf Returns From Eastern Trip

Dr. William B. Langsdorf, President of Orange County State College, Fullerton, recently returned from traveling across the country, where he visited several colleges and universities for the purpose of interviewing prospective candidates for teaching positions for the academic year 1960-61.

In addition to the many who will be added to the staff next year from among California candidates, several outstanding educators in other parts of the country will be employed to make up the teaching faculty of fifty instructors.

President Langsdorf traveled 9,000 miles and interviewed 89 persons who had previously indicated an interest in Orange County State College. He visited such institutions as Harvard University, University of Pennsylvania, University of Detroit, Northwestern University, University of Minnesota, University of Kansas, Southern Methodist University, and Texas A&M. In New York City, Philadelphia and Chicago he interviewed persons now working in those areas.

Typical of the probable new staff members who will join the Orange County State College faculty are the head of the mathematics department of a prominent eastern university, a professor and assistant dean in business administration at a "Big Ten" university, one of the leading physicists in the country and other scientists now employed in Atlantic coast colleges and universities. Others to be employed are a professor of education at the oldest collegiate institution in Minnesota and professors now teaching at such prominent institutions as University of Detroit, University of Kansas, Knox College, Georgetown University, Southern Methodist University, and Texas A. & M.

President Langsdorf is unable at this time to predict the total number of future Orange County State College professors who will

(Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Titans To Field Basketball Team

The recent announcement by President Langsdorf that the college plans to enter intercollegiate basketball competition next season has been greeted with great enthusiasm. The decision to engage in competitive athletics even on a limited basis will offer students and townspeople the opportunity of seeing many good college teams in action, which adds yet another attraction to the high school and junior college games now so closely followed.

The appointment of Alex Omalev as coach was made by the President at the same time. Omalev has had ten successful seasons as the Hornet mentor and expects to bring his many talents to the college in the development of first-class Titan teams.

With Dean Becker, Omalev is now working on a 25-game schedule for the 1960-1961 season. It is expected that teams such as Long Beach State, San Diego State, Los Angeles State as well as other nearby colleges will be on the list of opponents. These may include step forward in the building of what is certain to be one of the great causes of a first college. This paper will, I am certain, be the highest and its goal a better communication of news important to the students of the college, but a source of encouragement and inspiration for all projects and endeavors serving the cause of a first college. May its standards always be the highest and its goal a better Orange County State College.

W. B. Langsdorf, President

STUDENTS ELECT OFFICERS VOTE ACTIVITIES FEE

OFFICERS MEET: first student government session shows, left to right, seated, Joe Claves, Joe Stephens, Betty Buck and Joe Moody. Standing is Mr. Bristow, Activities Adviser.

The list of student accomplishments in the brief few months since college opened late in September of 1959 is an impressive one. Step by step the 483 students voted overwhelmingly to organize Associated Students, elected their student government officers and most recently have voted a student body fee to support their many activities. Add to this a successful dance, a food-and-fund drive to give some family much-needed help at Christmas time, and the publication of the Titan "Times" and you have a record of achievement that any senator or congressman would be glad to lay on the line.

Many interested instrumental in getting things going early in the game was the provisional Steering Committee for Student Body Government which began meetings about the first week in October. Credit goes to many students among whom are Bob Caverly, Ada Erwin, Mike Lyles, Chuck Loyd, Ann Nuttall, Elizabeth Craven, Joe Stephens, Marilyn Crosswhite, Beth Spain, Joan O'Dale, Betty Buck and Gay Laird. Others include Gay Conforti, Paul Genovese, Joe Claves, Caryl Eger, Gregory Parkin, Faye Harrison and many others whose names may not have gotten on the list.

November 17 saw the students voted to organize in a for-

(Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

Students, Faculty Attend "Human Relations" Confab

Campus and community problems were the theme for discussion at the sixth annual Conference on Human Relations attended recently by OCS students and faculty. Representing our college were Betty Buck and Jack Conklin and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence de Graaf. The conference was sponsored by the Los Angeles County Commission on Human Relations and held at Camp Hess Kramer, above Zuma Beach. More than seventy students and faculty representatives from a dozen Southern California campuses attended.

Central themes were problems in human relations on our campus and in our communities and the role of the student in improving relations between different racial, cultural, and religious groups. General sessions dealt with the bases of group stereotypes, lack of understanding among varying groups and the roots of prejudice. Sessions broke into workshops which studied discrimination and prejudice in the areas of housing, employment, education and social relations.

Problems Faced

All students and faculty representatives attending attained a broader knowledge of these areas of human relations and better understanding of other groups, as all major ethnic and cultural groups in the Los Angeles area were represented.

In order to increase the knowledge and understanding of human relations problems of students, Mr. de Graaf is setting up a group discussion of human relations at OCS and in the Fullerton area with meetings arranged at times most convenient to students. All interested students should speak to Mr. de Graaf for further details.

(Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

CLASS ADVISEMENT IN PROGRESS WITH REGISTRATION FEB. 6 AND 7

Students presently enrolled are meeting with major advisors and making class reservations this week through Friday, and new students will be following this procedure the weeks of January 18-22 and February 1-4, according to Dean Emmett T. Long. Advisors are meeting students in the faculty conference room at Fullerton High School. Appointments may be made by showing the Office of the Dean of Students at TROJAN 1-2000. Registration for the Spring semester will be held Friday and Saturday, February 6-7, at Sunny Hills High School.

Although the number of new students for the Spring semester is not known, enrollment is expected to approximate the Fall semester total of 460, possibly exceeding that figure. Preliminary surveys indicate about thirty new elementary education majors will be taking the Education 311 block section offered in the new semester, Dean Long stated.

The deadline for applying for admission is January 22. All students are required to matriculate. Dean Long points out, however, that there are now two forms of matriculation, Degree and Non-Degree. Any student working for the elementary education credential or degree through Orange County State must follow the complete matriculation procedure required for degree candidates. This includes sending from each college previously attended official transcripts of records. Hand-carried or personal records are not acceptable other than for counseling purposes.

Non-degree students include those who do not have an objective presently offered at OCS.

(Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

CONGRATULATIONS!

Twenty or thirty years from now, you may have the opportunity of driving by the beautiful campus of Orange County State College—the home of the Titans! You can feel pride that you attended our college in the first year of its existence, and played a role in its growth. No matter how small you may feel your "piece" in our school is, you are important! Everything you do, in regards to our college helps to make it what it is to be in those "twenty or thirty years from now." Let us build a great college!

Joe Stephens
ASB President

(Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

OCS TO OCCUPY PERMANENT SITE ON CYPRESS AVE. IN FALL

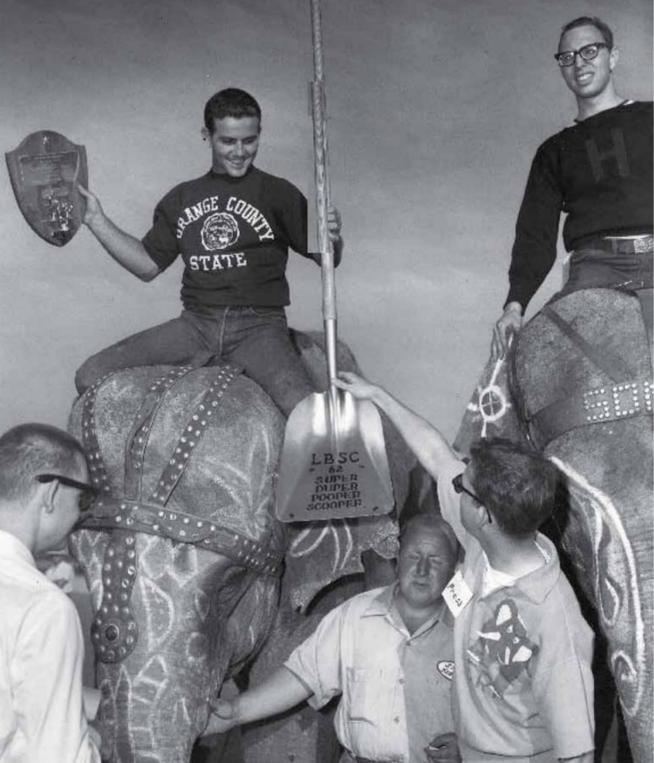

Construction Should Start Soon

Orange County State College will be in its own home in September 1960. It was announced by Dr. W. B. Langsdorf, President. Temporary buildings will be constructed on portions of the future college site soon to be acquired by the State. The site, selected by the Public Works Board of the State of California on March 13, 1958, is located in the north-east portion of the City of Fullerton and is bounded by Pioneer Avenue on the north, Cypress Avenue on the west, the extension of Milwood Avenue on the south, and the proposed north-south freeway on the east.

Temporary facilities will consist of twelve buildings totaling approximately 38,000 square feet, housing 17 classrooms, physical education, library, administration and faculty offices, and maintenance facilities. The buildings will be designed by the State Division of Architecture, and will be similar to temporary buildings in use at Los Angeles State College and San Fernando Valley State College. The first permanent college building is expected to be completed in 1963, according to President Langsdorf.

Since last March the administrative offices of Orange County State College have been located on Fullerton Union High School

(Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

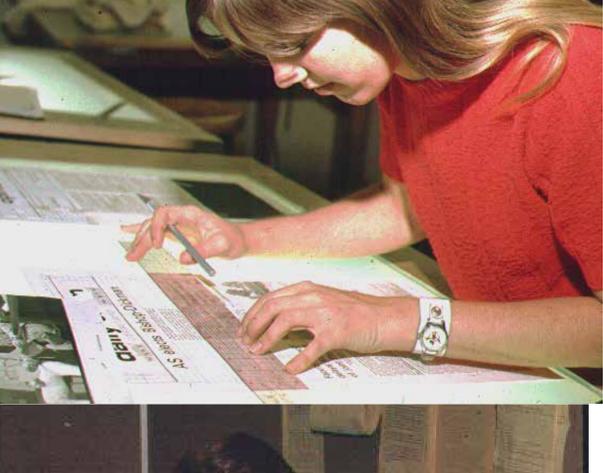

Elephant races and the first Titan Times issue launched Cal State Fullerton student news coverage in the 1960s.

1960s & 1970s

Allison Stiles meets Gov. Reagan, 1969, and the last non-daily staff wins statewide awards. Wayne Overbeck is at right.

Campus demonstrations & producing Daily Titan, 1970

